

Milner Gardens & Woodland Undergraduate Research Awards

The Milner Gardens & Woodland Undergraduate Research Awards are intended to foster student research at Milner Gardens & Woodland. The project may be primarily student driven or one that is associated with a faculty member's research program.

Eligibility:

In order to be considered for these awards, students must:

- be a current VIU undergraduate student
- be enrolled in courses the term prior to the proposed start date
- have completed their first year of studies
- have obtained a cumulative average of B-(GPA 2.67) at VIU over the previous year of study

Eligible Activities

Available for faculty endorsed research in any one of the following:

- independent student research supervised by a faculty member
- independent project undertaken for credit
- research undertaken as a work-opportunity student
- financially supported or pro bono research as part of the faculty member's project

Special Funding Conditions

Research could include the forest, garden, shoreline, geology, volunteerism, business operation, or community engagement at Milner Gardens & Woodland. Other areas of study may also be deemed eligible.
